My first buddy is Desmet Victor. He is Belgian, but he came from EADA Business School in Spain. On May 20, 2023, I sent an email to Victor to introduce myself and offer support to him. He said that he wanted to schedule a video call to get to know each other. Then, we had a video call through Instagram and talked for around an hour.

Before he flew to Taiwan, I answered his question about the airport that he should be landed at, reminded him about the enrollment, and talked a little bit about the dorm. On the arrival date, he had not contacted me yet. However, we accidentally met at the office building in the bus queue. We felt that was a surprise. He came with the big luggage. I and my friends led him uphill to the dorm office and helped him contact the office at Dorm 10. We also guided them to the convenience store at Dorm 9. And we kept in contact after that. He told me that he was suggested and attracted by the new library of National Chengchi University (Dah Hsian Seetoo Library) by his Taiwanese friends there at his university, which brought him to be here in Taiwan. I think the one thing that he likes most about Taiwan is hiking. He is a type of sportsman. I saw him going out with my international MBA friends that go hiking in some hills. As you know, how beautiful and stunning the view is. Lastly, we study in the same course, which is Special Topics on Profit Models. I had some great conversations with him during the semester.

My second buddy is Wout Mertens. He is also Belgian; he came from the KU Leuven Faculty of Economics and Business in Belgium. I reached him via email to introduce myself and offer my support on May 20, 2023, on the same day as Victor. However, he later reached out to me through Instagram to establish contact, and the conversation started there.

Hi there,

I hope this email finds you well. I'm Pat Intukorn, and I will be your buddy at NCCU next semester. I'm thrilled that we have been matched, and I can't wait to meet you and help you get settled here in Taiwan. I'm happy to answer any questions you have about the city, the school, or anything else. Furthermore, I'm more than happy to show you around and introduce you to my friends.

I recommend downloading the LINE application, which is commonly used as the main chatting app in Taiwan. Here is my LINE ID: pjsafepat

I'm really looking forward to getting to know you. Please don't hesitate to reach out to me if you need anything at all.

Best,
Pat

Most of our conversation is about his questions and support. He asked for advice about selecting the courses here and which courses would not check attendance. He also asked about the area to look for a room during his stay in Taipei. And he decided to book an apartment outside the campus, and he needed someone to go see the apartment to check it out (avoid the third-party fee). This led to the problem that it would lead to support that I could not provide because I was not here in Taiwan and I could not speak Chinese with the host. So, I have to reject supporting him. After this situation, we seem to be apart. However, as I know from Victor and other exchange friends, he is fine and happy with his life here in Taiwan.

Last but not least, a buddy program provided me with an opportunity to meet and connect with other students and could be incredibly rewarding for me for helping and guiding someone. I also learned new communication, leadership, and problem-solving skills with people from different perspectives. Moreover, seeing my mentee settle down successfully boosted my confidence and belief in my abilities.
