COURSES

Students must attend the UW on a full-time basis. A full-time course load is 12-18 UW credits per quarter. 18 credits is the maximum. Quarters run for 10 weeks plus 1 week for final exams.

Foster Inbound Exchange Students typically take three or four 300- to 400-level business courses with each business course carrying 4 UW credits. Demand and space constraints make Finance, Information Systems, and Accounting courses difficult to get into.

Foster Inbound Exchange Students are allowed to take as many non-business coursework as they like if they meet the prerequisites and are granted access by the department.

LEARNING EXPECTATIONS

Class formats include lecture and discussion, in-class presentations and case studies. Attendance is required.

Grading is based on papers, group projects, case studies, class participation and exams. Exam formats may vary. Typically exams are held during the final week of the quarter.

LENGTH OF CLASS

A typical 300- or 400-level 4-credit business course runs 2 days per week, for 2 hours per day, for a total of 4 hours of class time each week or 40 hours of class time during a quarter. Courses usually run either Monday and Wednesday, or Tuesday and Thursday anytime from 8:30 a.m. until 5:20 p.m. Courses outside the Foster School operate on different schedules.
