Hello

You can now call each other and see information such as Active Status and when you've read messages.

Could you maybe create the group with the three of us ? Because I can't copy your names because they are in chinese haha

And which one is Claudia et which one Jenice ?

3. 接待心得(至少 300 字以上)

As a participant in the buddy program, I had the pleasure of being paired with Thais Baudeau as my study partner. The buddy program is an excellent initiative that aims to help international students adjust to their new life in Taiwan. Before her arrival in Taiwan, I made sure to reach out to Thais and introduce myself. It was great to have some foreign friends to talk to and answer questions before arriving, which can indeed help her to ease her nerves.

The buddy program provided useful information, such as recommendations on where to purchase bedding and daily necessities, how to open a bank account and set up a phone plan, or even places in Taiwan to visit. As a local student myself, I found this information to be invaluable, and it can definitely save Thais a lot of time and effort.

During our first meeting, Thais and I got to know each other better, and she was very friendly and welcoming. We exchanged contact information and made plans to meet up again. Thais also shared her traveling plans with me and another Taiwan buddy, Jenice, and it's cool for both of us two local students to share our pocket lists of tourist spots.

Overall, I feel grateful to have participated in the buddy program and to have been paired with such a generous and kind study partner like Thais. The program can help international students to adapt more quickly to the new environment and give them a sense of support and community in a new country. I would highly recommend the buddy program to any international students who are planning to study at NCCU or even in Taiwan.
