1. 學友簡介

Carl (Ben) is from Germany. He studied Econ in Cologne University. He came to Asia for exchange programs. We had a dinner together when he just arrived TW. We talked about our own educational system, the China-Taiwan relationship (He even took some politics courses in the semester) and shared about our own career plan. I really enjoy exchanging different thoughts with people. And the buddy program provides a great opportunity to see how people might think under a really different grown-up environment!

2. 學友最喜歡台灣哪一點

Since we met once my buddy arrived, everything is still new to him, and thus, hard to conclude what he likes the most about TW. However, he does compliment about the maintenance of the public transport hygiene.

3. 接待心得

I have a really good time with my buddy. We both share some similarity in our personalities (we were both quite reserved and introverted), as well as interests (We both like to go on cycling). Though we only met once, we' ve really talked about the cultural differences between Taiwan and Europe during our dinner together. For example, In the West, people are usually more individualistic, and the pressure from social conformity is a lot less common there in Europe. Also, he shared with me some differences between Europe living environment and Taiwan. In Europe, social welfare really provides people with a decent life even though they're in relatively low classes. But here in Taiwan, even with some subsidy, the poor might not have the life as that in Europe.

I am really happy and grateful to have this opportunity to attend the buddy program. Besides making new friends from other countries and improving my English fluency, I really learned a lot about Taiwan culture from a foreign perspective, which has made me reflect on my old beliefs and generate new thoughts. I really appreciate the establish of the program, and I really hope that I can take part in the Buddy Program AGAIN!

I forgot to take photo when we had dinner. Later, I tried to invite my buddy to go on a cycling. Unfortunately, he just have a ride, so we didn' t manage to meet before he leaves TW.
